

WORK IS STOPPED ON BRIDGES

Government Engineers Order Operations Suspended on Muskingum

MUST SUBMIT PLANS

Federal Authorities Seek to Prevent Future Flood Damage by Having the Bridges Built Right.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Aug. 26.—That the federal government means to take a hand in the flood prevention in Ohio, was made plain today when Division Engineer Major L. H. Rand stopped work on a half dozen bridges along the Muskingum river in Morgan, Muskingum and Washington counties. The commissioners of these three counties were notified personally that all work on bridges along this river must cease, forthwith. This is the direct order of the war department at Washington. As a result work on a dozen or more bridges has stopped, and a delegation of residents of these three counties will reach Columbus some time today or tomorrow to appeal to Governor Cox.

These counties were proceeding under the emergency act of the last legislature, and the work was termed "repairing and rebuilding." The contention of the war department is that this is a violation of the federal law and insists that plans for all of this work must first be approved by the government.

"What the department seeks," said Major Rand, "is to increase the flow of water in streams by the removal of possible obstructions. Bridges must be built higher, there must be fewer piers and solid approaches and abutments must be removed and replaced by piers unless it can be shown that this is impossible, or the additional cost prohibitive."

All contractors were notified to cease work immediately under penalty of criminal prosecution, and a delegation was quickly organized from each of the counties to come to Columbus and enlist the support of Governor Cox in an appeal to Congress to have the order modified.

JEROME TALKS OF THAW CASE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 26.—The possibility of a long drawn out fight in the courts over the constitutionality of Canada's drastic immigration act, under which it is proposed to deport Harry K. Thaw, was the favorite theme today of both factions gathered at Sherbrooke.

Going over the situation informally Wm. T. Jerome and District Attorney Conger of Dutchess county sat by a roaring wood fire in the Magog House, the storm center, since Thaw's arrival, of nearly all conferences about him.

"I can't express an opinion on every theoretical defense suggested by Thaw's lawyers," said Jerome. "We hope to get him back to Matteawan where he belongs but it does look as though we were in for a siege."

Thaw continued to show little interest in anything except his publicity plans. He is mailing and telegraphing statements to the papers in Vermont, where, notwithstanding all theories of court delay here, he apparently expects to be deported. He also insisted again today, that in view of Jerome's presence here he wanted his lawyers to re-issue a statement quoting Jerome as saying in New York in 1908 that Thaw was sane. T. B. Whittans of the Dominion immigration department was quoted today as saying he placed no faith in Thaw's case in testing the immigration laws in the courts.

Roger Thompson sent a message to his widowed mother in New York last night telling her not to worry. His case will come up before a police judge here on Friday. Thompson has not heard from his determination not to "sue" and tell about his driving Thaw from Matteawan in the black car. His threat last week to tell resulted in the immediate employment of counsel for him by the Thaw family and in other ways Roger has been made so comfortable for the time being that he prefers to say nothing.

DEMAND THAW'S RETURN.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy of New York state and R. A. Pringle, a Canadian lawyer retained by the New York authorities, formally requested the immigration department today to deport Harry Thaw as soon as the habeas corpus proceedings at Sherbrooke are disposed of. They want Thaw turned over to Chief Immigration Officer Clark at Montreal as soon as released by the court, and deported over the New York border.

EVELYN SHARES LIMELIGHT.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Aug. 26.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw testifies before a referee in bankruptcy today that Harry Thaw's mother had contrived to pay her $15,000 cash and $1,000 a month so long as she (Evelyn) should live, to not enter an action for annulment of her marriage to Harry Thaw. This contract, the show girl testified, was made some time in 1907 or 1908, after Thaw had killed Stanford White and was now in the possession of her lawyer, John Reilly of this city. Mr. Reilly also had checks for $15,000—one of them for $5,000, bearing Mrs. Mary Thaw's signature, none of which had been honored, the witness continued.

DR. KIEB TO CANADA.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Matteawan, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Dr. R. F. C. Kieb, head of the Matteawan state hospital left for Sherbrooke, Canada, to assist in the efforts to have Harry K. Thaw deported into the United States. "I don't know why I have been asked to go to Canada," said Dr. Kieb. "I have had a request from the deputy attorney general but I don't know of what particular use I can be to the Canadian authorities if Thaw is to be deported to Vermont." However Dr. Kieb left this morning for Sherbrooke.

THREE FATALLY BURNED.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Youngstown, O., Aug. 26.—Twenty-one men were burned, three probably fatally, by the overturning of a hot metal ladle in the steel department of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company today. The fatally injured are foreigners. Fifteen of the injured were taken to the hospital.

PLAIN DEALER'S PUBLISHER DIES AT CLEVELAND

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cleveland, O., Aug. 26.—Liberty E. Holden, publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, hotel and mine owner, and interested in half a dozen other business enterprises, died here today of a complication of diseases due to old age. He was eighty years old. Mr. Holden was a trustee of Western Reserve University and Adelbert College, and a member of the National Municipal League; the American Institute of Mining Engineers; the Society of Mayflower Descendants; Sons of the American Revolution; the Rowland, University, Union and Country clubs of Cleveland; the Alta club of Salt Lake City, and the University club of New York.

CAMINETTI TRIAL STARTED TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Francisco, Aug. 26.—The second of the nationally known Diggs-Caminetti cases, the trial of F. Drew Caminetti, who must face the charges of violating the Mann White act, under which his companion, Maury I. Diggs, was convicted, started today in the United States district court before Judge William Van Fleet.

The same witnesses who testified at the trial of Diggs last week appeared at the federal building and struggling through the crowd that had gathered about the courtroom forced their way into the building, shielding themselves as well as they could from the battery of clicking cameras trained upon them by news-papers photographers and representatives of moving picture concerns that are making capital of the plight of the youthful defendants and their girl victims.

Hours before 9 o'clock when the case was called, the corridors outside the courtroom began to fill and then the crowd overflowed to the steps of the building and to the street. The first forty-eight places were held at a premium, for it was known to be the edict of the court that only that number would be admitted. It was not expected that testimony would be introduced today.

WIRELESS CALLS HELP FOR SICK MAN ABOARD SHIP

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 26.—Wireless waves spluttering out over the Bering Sea today are calling a revenue cutter to start on a 2,000 mile race against death. Somewhere out of the squadron cruising the broad blue waters of the arctic circle a fleet ship will be found to get Fred M. Chamberlain, a government naturalist, at St. Paul Island and rush him down to Seattle in time, it is hoped, to save his life. Chamberlain, a bridegroom of a year, went to St. Paul to take the seal census for the department of commerce. He was taken with heart disease.

HOME RULE FOR CITIES TO STAND

Cleveland Non-Partisan Primary Stands Test of the Supreme Court

THE OPINION IS DIVIDED

Injunction Which Stopped Primary Remains Unchanged and Candidates Must Appear on Non-Partisan Ballots.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Columbus, Aug. 26.—Cities may have non-partisan elections, so the Supreme court ruled today in a decision given in the Cleveland charter case.

The case was a tie in the decision, three voting to affirm the lower court judgment and three voting to the contrary. As it takes four to reverse, the effect of the tie is to affirm the decision of the lower court, which was that the city could hold a non-partisan nomination primary.

Attorney General Hogan will ask for a rehearing of the case. It is probable that this will be done after the seventh member of the court will have been appointed by Governor Cox, which will break the tie if the question is again considered, and make possible a ruling that will be absolutely decisive of the questions involved in the charter case.

The three members of the court who voted to sustain the lower court judgment were Justices J. Foster Johnson, R. M. Wanamaker and James G. Johnson. The three who took the opposite view were Chief Justice John A. Shauek, Oscar W. Newman and Maurice H. Donahue.

The case was the outgrowth of the refusal of the Cuyahoga county election board to order a non-partisan primary election to nominate in the way provided by the new Cleveland City charter. This refusal was based on the view that the home rule amendment of the constitution did not give cities the right to select its officials in a non-partisan way. The board ordered the regular partisan primary election, in which all parties nominate candidates, and the city sought an injunction to prevent this and to secure an order for the non-partisan primary provided for by the charter. The court ordered the election board to provide for the non-partisan primary.

The election board then appealed the matter to the supreme court, and the decision of that tribunal affirms the lower court.

The case went direct to the supreme court from the common pleas, where an injunction was granted restraining the board of elections from holding a primary for nomination of candidates for Mayor-at-large and councilmen from wards, the only elective offices provided for in Cleveland's charter.

GAVE HER LIFE TO SAVE SON FROM INJURY

(Associated Press Telegram)
Mt. Vernon, O., Aug. 26.—In a brave effort to save her son from death under the hoofs of an angry bull in a field near their home, Mrs. Henry Motz lost her own life yesterday afternoon.

The bull had knocked the boy to the ground when the mother hastened to the rescue. The bull then turned its attention upon the woman.

While the boy escaped uninjured Mrs. Motz was gored about the body and her skull was crushed.

SENTENCED TO DIE OCT. 10

Georgia Factory Superintendent Leo Franks Continues to Declare His Innocence.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 26.—A sentence of death was pronounced upon Leo Franks, convicted yesterday of murdering Mary Phagan. His execution was set for October 10.

The young factory superintendent betrayed no apprehension over his fate, confidently predicting that his declaration of innocence would yet be sustained.

It was understood that the appeal to be taken in Franks' behalf would embody in substance the motion for mistrial made by his attorneys just before Judge Roan delivered his charge to the jury yesterday. Several popular demonstrations unfavorable to Franks were held by his attorneys to have reached the ears of the jury and to have prejudiced the case.

Govs. Major of Missouri and Hodges of Kansas at Work "Pulling Missouri Out of the Mud"

This is the way Governors Major of Missouri and Hodges of Kansas helped toward "Pulling Missouri out of the mud." When Governor Major decided to call on the citizens of his state to do two days' work on the poor roads it did not take Governor Hodges, his neighbor, long to learn that this was popular. He hastened to Jefferson City and with the governor of Missouri donned overalls for the actual work on the road. Now he is going to have a good roads day of his own in Kansas.

Both governors have announced that they enjoyed their work greatly. But both admit that their hands were so badly blistered that they were not able to use shovels very long.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM IS NOT OUT OF DANGER

Mrs. Fred Curtis of Zanesville, most seriously injured of two women victims of an auto accident west of Hebron Monday, was reported by attendants at the Newark Sanitarium, Tuesday, to be showing considerable improvement, but hospital authorities would not say her condition showed her to be entirely out of danger.

Mrs. William Thompson of Lima, also hurt, is improving satisfactorily.

MAY MAKE SCHOOLS SELF SUPPORTING

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 26.—Public schools virtually may be made self supporting through intelligent labor of their students is the declaration made by the United States bureau of education from a report by one of its inspectors, H. W. Foght, on the plan adopted in the schools of Ishpeming, Mich. As a result of the system in force in the Michigan town the school properties not only have been kept in order, but new buildings have been planned.

NEW HAVEN STOCK SUFFERS DECLINE

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Aug. 26.—Stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford which has experienced a decline within the last year that has made history in Wall street, broke badly again today. The price fell over four points to 92 1/2, once more establishing a low record. Subsequently it rallied to 91 1/2.

The stock in former years sold as high as 279, and its pronounced weakness within recent months overshadowed the reduction which was made in the dividend rate.

Pension Increase Secured for Veteran by Cong. Ashbrook

Frank Wise, Civil war veteran, residing in King avenue, has just received notice that the federal government has granted him an increase in his pension from $27 monthly to $30. The increase was obtained through the efforts of Congressman Ashbrook, whose untiring activity in behalf of old soldiers is meeting with due recognition and gratitude.

HUERTA ASKS PRESIDENT TO DELAY MESSAGE ON THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Plans for Joint Session to Receive the Message Were Recalled Pending Further Advices From Mexico

UNCLE SAM'S PROPOSALS ARE ANNOUNCED

Hostilities Must Cease, Early Election Must Be Held and Huerta Must Not Be a Candidate, Says Uncle Sam—This Policy Will Not Be Modified, Officials Claim—Lind Now at Vera Cruz But Will Return to Mexico City.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Mexico City, Aug. 26.—John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, left here this morning for Vera Cruz. He is accompanied by Luis d'Antin, an attaché of the American embassy.

The understanding here is that from Vera Cruz, Mr. Lind will continue his journey to Washington.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 26.—Eleventh hour developments in the Mexican situation today postponed delivery of President Wilson's special message to congress until Wednesday and indicated that the Huerta government, after all, might withdraw or modify its rejection of the proposals of the United States.

At the request of Senor Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, which was based upon supplementary suggestions by ex-Gov. John Lind, advisor to the American embassy in Mexico City, President Wilson consented to postpone his address to congress until 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. It was officially stated in that connection that in no case would the United States withdraw from the basic principle of its position paramount which is a consistent refusal to recognize Huerta.

Official announcement was made of the original proposals by the United States presented to Huerta by Mr. Lind. They were:

1. Cessation of hostilities and a definite armistice.
  2. An early and free election.
  3. Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate.
  4. Agreement by all parties to abide by the results of the elections.
- Upon these proposals the Huerta government at the last moment asked further time for consideration and upon certain supplementary suggestions by Mr. Lind, the nature of which is not being divulged here, the request for a postponement was made.

While public officials positively stated that Mr. Lind had not been recalled from Mexico City, they added that if he had left for Vera Cruz it would be for only a short visit. He is expected to return to Mexico City to continue the negotiations.

Preparations at the capitol hurriedly made for a joint session of the senate house were called off. President Wilson's message, a document of about four thousand words, was locked up in the White House vault awaiting the next development. It is generally understood that the message is very kind in tone toward Huerta, outlines the American government's position, expresses generous friendship for the Mexican people and defines the reasons for insisting upon peace.

President Wilson's message which was to have been read today—a communication which formally denies recognition to the Huerta government though protesting sincere friendship for the great mass of Mexican people without voice in their government—is essentially the result of John Lind and his negotiations with the Mexican government.

The message cites as an almost parallel the action of the administration today—the difficulties between President Hayes in 1877 and Porfirio Diaz who, after overthrowing President Lerdo, sought recognition from the United States. Though foreign governments recognized Diaz, the United States waited a year; not only until an election was held but until it was satisfied that the government thereby set up could guarantee international contracts.

The reference to this precedent led to the belief that while it has hitherto been supposed that immediate relief would be felt by an election held by Huerta, recognition would be extended, the likelihood was that the United States would not extend the hand of friendship to the existing government or its successor in Mexico for some time.

President Hayes in 1877 saw fit to order General Ord to the border with power to cross into Mexico with American troops to suppress marauding bands who were plundering the property of Americans and retreating across the Rio Grande. On that occasion the federal government had been lax in giving border residents protection but as soon as troops were ordered south the Diaz government indignantly announced that the entrance of any American soldiers into Mexico would be regarded as an invasion and an act of war.

The views of President Hayes as expressed by Secretary Seward to John W. Foster, American minister to Mexico, and from which President Wilson takes precedent for his policy of today were:

"The government of the United States in its dealings with the Mexican republic has aimed to pursue not merely a just but a generous and friendly course. While earnest to guard and protect the rights of its own citizens and the safety of its own territory, it does not seek to intervene in political contests or changes of administration. It is accustomed to accept and recognize the results of a popular choice in Mexico and not to scrutinize too closely the regularity or irregularity by methods by which presidents are inaugurated. In the present case it waits before recognizing General Diaz as president of Mexico until it shall be assured that his election is approved by the Mexican people, and that his administration is possessed of stability to endure and of disposition to comply with the rule of international comity in the obligations of treaties."

"Such recognition, if afforded would imply something more than a mere formal assent. It would imply a belief that the government so recognized will faithfully execute its duties and observe the spirit of its treaties. The recognition of a president in Mexico by the United States has an important moral influence which, as you explained, is appreciated at the capital of that republic."

"It aims to strengthen the power and lengthen the tenure of the incumbent, and if, as you say, the example of the United States in that regard is one that other nations are disposed to follow, such recognition would not be without effect—both upon the internal and external peace of Mexico. You justly remark, that in fifty years there have been about sixty changes of administration in Mexico and it may be added that those administrations have been longest lived that were most faithful and friendly in the discharge of their treaty obligations to the United States."

A LONDON VIEW.

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Aug. 26.—The difficulty of the mission of John Lind to Mexico was from the beginning that the American government had nothing to offer to Provisional President Victoriano Huerta if he acceded to its request," comments the Westminster Gazette in an article on the Mexican situation today. The government adds:

"It is easy to smile at the position in which President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan find themselves, but it is no worse than the position in which the powers have been landed by the refusal of Turkey to respect the treaty of London."

A BRAVE MAN IS PROF. GRAHAM

(Associated Press Telegram)
Canton, O., Aug. 26.—Prof. A. B. Graham, head of the agricultural extension work at Ohio State university, told 200 women teachers at the County Institute here today what he thought of those who wore silk, hobble and X-ray skirts. He characterized the extreme styles as indecent, and said they had an evil influence on the children of school age. Any teacher who wore such clothes in class, should lose her job, he declared, and trustees and school boards should see that they did.

The professor wanted the teachers to go on record against the latest styles in a resolution but the proposal met a cold reception when Graham said it was all right for men to teach in their shirt sleeves, but said they should keep their collars on.

DAM DEDICATED.
Keokuk, Iowa, Aug. 26.—With Governor George W. Clarke of Iowa to welcome visitors to the Hawkeye domain and Mayor J. F. Elder extending the hand of fellowship on behalf of the city, the Keokuk and Hamilton power dam was formally dedicated today.

STOCKHOLDERS OF TELEPHONE CO. APPROVE LEASE

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Newark Telephone company, Monday evening, unanimous approval of the directors' action in leasing the Gratiot and Brownsville and the Somerset Telephone companies for a period of 34 years was given. If the state commission approves the action the Gratiot and Brownsville exchange and the Somerset and Glenford exchange will be made a part of the Newark Telephone company's system, which now embraces exchanges at Newark, Granville and Hanover, with lines running into every section of Licking county and connecting with exchanges at Uica, Homer, Johnstown, Croton, Alexandria, Pataskala, Hebron and Jersey. By this action the Newark company will control all the independent telephone lines from Uica to New Lexington in Perry county, with a total of 4,800 telephones. When interviewed Tuesday, Manager Hollander stated that without doubt the system would have over 5,000 telephones in service by January 1st. There are nearly 2,500 telephones in service in the city of Newark alone, making an average of one to approximately every eight people.

PREFERS EXILE TO COUNTY JAIL

Colored Man Given His Choice, Even Prefers Pittsburgh to Three Months Behind Bars. "Can't nevah come back no mo' nohow 't all?" "No, you must leave the state of Ohio forever, or take the jail sentence." "How long jail sentence yo' all say, judge?" "Three months." Clarence Bell, colored, reflected for only a moment. He had already spent three days in the Licking county jail and it took him only a moment to decide. "Ah'll — well, Ah jes guess Ah'll leave 't state. Y' all cain fix me out fo' Pittsburg." And inside of just ten more minutes Bell was on an east bound Pennsylvania train. He pleaded guilty to contributing to delinquency of youths at Buckeye Lake. He chose permanent exile from Ohio to three months in the Licking county bastille, the choice offered him by Judge Robbins Hunter. The court officials do not regard Clarence's choice as any reflection on the hospitality of Sheriff Slabaugh.

PETER MERKLE DIES OF INJURY

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Aug. 26.—As a result of a peculiar accident sustained last Saturday night, while boarding a street car, Peter Merkle, aged 70, well known proprietor of restaurants in several cities, died today at Grant Hospital. Mr. Merkle was proprietor of the Union Station restaurant in Columbus, of a larger similar restaurant in Chicago, and of other places of business. Mr. Merkle was injured in boarding a street car last Saturday evening. He was dragged about 50 feet, but succeeded in boarding the car and rode to his home. Later in a surgical operation, it was found that a hole had been torn in one of the intestines, and that general peritonitis had developed.

BIG CLOVER CROP NOW REPORTED

"The clover crop this year is the best since 1908," is the opinion of L. C. Mondenhall, traveling representative of A. T. Ferrell & Co., of Saginaw, Mich. Mr. Mondenhall is in Newark today and has just made an extensive trip through the central states. In his business introducing seed cleaners he is in a position to know the condition of the seed crops. The big supply of clover seed predicted this season is due to very favorable weather conditions. The early rains gave the clover a good start. In many places clover came up where none was sowed and much of the timothy has been mixed with clover. The crop over the country is rated at 100 per cent. In Licking county the crop is hardly up to the better conditions elsewhere. This is largely due to a small acreage. Growing conditions have been above the average and considering a small acreage the crop is excellent. Clover prospect in the county is rated at 80 per cent. On the other hand the supply of timothy seed will be very meager. A large share of the timothy was poor and the acreage was small. The drought also seriously damaged the timothy in general. The prospect for timothy seed is estimated at only 25 per cent.

Free Vaudeville Show Will Entertain Labor Day Crowds

KING AND LEE.

The above are portraits of King and Lee in their pleasing original comedy sketch entitled "Giving Him a Chance." This act will please both young and old. Mr. King features his conception of buck and wing dancing. Miss Lee has an exceptionally strong and pretty voice and is sure to please. Let everybody be prepared to enjoy the time of their lives next Monday. The committee has promised the newest and most novel features ever put on in the city. One of the most attractive will be the free continuous vaudeville entertainment on an elevated stage in the public square featuring the following acts: Mr. James Jova, the famous "Italian Impersonator." He is second to none in his line. The only way to appreciate Mr. Jova is to hear him. His act consists of a line of high class comedy. Mr. George Ferro, the Boy Wonder, the worlds greatest ariel performer on a Japanese flying perch, working 25 feet in the air. During this act Mr. Ferro takes his life in his hands at every performance. He is also the only person living today who dislocates his neck while working. He offers $100 to any person who can prove he does not perform this feat. When you see him tie himself into knots you will say he has not a bone in his body. We guarantee this to be best and strongest act ever shown in Newark. Three prizes will be awarded to local unions appearing in the parade, as follows: $10.00 for largest percentage of membership; $5.00 for second largest percentage; $10.00 for organizations presenting neatest appearance. The judges who make the awards are W. V. Jordan, Leonard Graham and Thomas W. Tabler. Arrangements have been made to secure films of the parade at various points on the line of march, and in a few days after the event it may be again witnessed and enjoyed at the local shows. One of the most attractive and enjoyable features will be the Fantastic Parade in the afternoon. All those desiring to enter for this event will report on South Fifth street before 3 o'clock. The column will form on South Fifth, resting on West Main, and will start promptly at 3:15. No entrance fee will be charged, and the following prizes will be awarded: First, $5 pair of shoes, donated by A. S. Stephan; second, $3 hat, donated by George Hermann. Don't fail to see this great feature of the day's amusements. Still a few spaces for stands around the square remain unsold. See Charles Roesser 60 German street. Today in Pugilistic Annals 1904—Jim Jeffries knocked out Jack Monroe, challenger for the heavyweight title, in second round at San Francisco. Monroe alleged that he had defeated the champion in a four round bout at Butte, Mont., a couple years before, and on the strength of this "victory" went around posing as the bona fide blow-in-the-bottle champion. He convinced a number of newspaper writers that he could fight, and quite a lot of interest was worked up over the match. 1911—Frankie Conley knocked out Patsy Kline in 11th round at Vernon. 1912—Kid Williams stopped Kid Kelly in 9th round at Boston.

MR. SACHS SEES KAISER PARADE AND SHAM BATTLE

Fifteen Thousand German Soldiers in Action—Will Sail for Home On the Imperator.

The Advocate has just received a letter from Mr. Henry Sachs dated August 14th and reading as follows: "I received your letter last evening upon my return from the Kaiser parade at Mayence where the Kaiser inspected and reviewed the troops of the garrison of Mayence, Frankfurt and Darmstadt over 15,000 men in action. I was fortunate to secure through a friend a permit from the governor or commandant of Mayence to view on the great parade the drills of the cavalry regiments, both the Uhlands and Dragoons, also the sham battle between the opposing forces of infantry supported by numerous batteries of artillery, noting the flank movements and attacks of the same as in actual warfare when continued for over two hours, then the Kaiser parade to which the public had access. The patriotism of the Germans is even stronger than the average American. I saw the Kaiser again at close range upon his return to the city in the Imperial carriage on horseback in company of the Grand Duke of Hesse, whose guest he is while here. He responded very graciously to our salutations. I saw him again in the afternoon as he was leaving the grand ducal palace, where he had luncheon, for Kreuznach by automobile where he delivered an address at the unveiling of the monument to the Jaeger aus Kurpfalz when he was greeted by over 4,000 veterans of the wars of 1866 and 1870. "But to return to your letter. I am very thankful for the favors of the Advocate. I expect to enjoy the contents of the papers later. As my time is limited and as I am constantly on the move I find it impossible to write a letter for publication as you request, as I leave here about September 1 on a ten day trip down the Rhine, going via Cologne and Berlin to Hamburg, taking passage in the Imperator September 10. I expect to arrive home a week later."

ZANESVILLE FLOOD NOW PUBLISHED IN BOOK FORM

Mr. A. E. Starr, chairman of the flood relief committee at Zanesville, has just published a very interesting hundred page book "Zanesville in the Flood of 1913." The book was written by Mr. Thomas W. Lewis and is illustrated with numerous photographs of flood scenes. It is well written, well printed and is bound in cloth.

The chapter headed "Royal Friends in Time of Need" tells of the friendship shown Zanesville by Pittsburgh and Newark. Referring to Newark the book says in substance:

In the county seat of Licking, Zanesville found other great and good friends. An Advocate man came to Zanesville early in the campaign of relief and again several times later, where he learned at first hand the immensity of the problem facing the local committee and the demand for prompt and generous giving. Then the Advocate told its readers all about the problem and Newark responded without stint during many weeks, her contributions being estimated as follows up to the time this story went to press: provisions and furniture about four carloads valued at $4,000.

The Zanesville book sells for $1.10 postpaid. The profits will go into a fund that will be used in buying medals to be presented to those who saved many lives at Zanesville.

When the costs of the flood were counted it was found that 3441 of the city's buildings had been under water, 157 of which had been entirely swept away, moved from their foundations or wrecked, torn or otherwise heavily damaged. The loss on these and their contents has been estimated at $2,795,792. Though nearly 15,000 Zanesville people were in the flood only two people were drowned.

HOME FROM BOSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Hall, have returned from Boston, where Mr. Hall attended the eleventh national Rexall convention of the United Drug company.

The convention which lasted four days was attended by over 2,000 Rexall agents from all over the United States, Canada and Great Britain, several being present from England, Scotland and Wales.

Mr. Hall reports a splendid time, and has much to say in regard to the great receptions tendered both the Rexall agents and their wives, by the officers at the home of Rexall. The enthusiasm shown there by each Rexall agent was proof of the faith they have in the Rexall plan and confidence they have in the unquestionable quality of the Rexall remedies, and that seven thousand druggists merchandising together do offer great values to the consumer.

M'LEAN DEMANDS BIRD PROTECTION

Urges Senate to Prohibit Importation of Plumage.

FLAYS "IGNORANT" WOMEN

Feather Trade and Those Who Insist on Wearing Plumes and Aigrets Share in Abuse—Points Out Laws of Germany and Lauds Them.

Senator George P. McLean of Connecticut, author of the bill to protect migratory game birds, strongly urged the senate to adopt the house provision of the tariff bill prohibiting the importation of the plumage of birds. He attacked the feather trade and denounced the "ignorant women" who insist upon plumes and aigrets in following the dictates of fashion.

Senator McLean pictured the wanton destruction of birds at the nest season, the widespread dearth of birds that are enemies to insects and other pests that destroy crops and the killing of game warden who tried to protect the feathered tribes.

"The plumage trade," he declared, "has left behind it a trail of savage crudelty and civilized greed and cunning and nothing whatever to commend it except the blood money it has collected from ignorant women. I say ignorant women because no woman worthy of the name will encourage this trade once she understands her responsibility for it."

Referring to Germany's protest, he said that Germany for many years by imperial act had prohibited the killing of useful and beautiful birds. "Upon what ground and with what grace do the German merchants ask us to find a market for their contraband goods?" he asked.

He quoted Dr. Field, Massachusetts game commissioner, in reply to the criticism that the bill would encourage the destruction of American birds.

Dr. Field appeared before a congressional committee and said he had prosecuted seventy-five milliners for selling the plumage of native birds, and in every instance the dealer asserted he could not tell the native from the foreign plumage when it was received from the dealer.

"It was found in these cases that all manner of beautiful American birds were killed and their plumage sent to Berlin, London or Paris and there mounted and returned to this country as foreign plumage. How easy, in these circumstances, for the traders who appeared before the finance committee to swear they never deal in American birds. And how clear it is that only by the strictest guard over our imports can we prevent the cunning dealers from stealing our birds and selling them back to us as foreign birds."

"It is contended by the trade that the enactment of this law will throw out of employment those now engaged in it. The savages who do the killing scarcely will excite our sympathy. As for the milliners, there is ample proof that the trade will be quickly diverted to artificial lines, which will multiply tenfold the labor now required to mount the natural plumes."

"The plea that the feathers of game birds should be admitted is easily answered. Game birds are and will be imported with their feathers on, and this law will in no way affect the trade in game birds. Where the plumage of game birds is imported it is taken in the nesting season and the bodies of the birds are thrown away. The tons of ptarmigan wings recently imported from Russia meant the slaughter in the spring of tens of thousands of game birds for their wings only."

"As long as birds' feathers are worth their weight in gold the birds that happen to produce them will be hunted to the uttermost parts of the earth. Nearly all the civilized nations prohibit the killing of plumage and insectivorous birds by treaty or law, or both, but there is still a vast field unguarded where the bird pirate can ply his trade as long as the highly civilized nations furnish a market for his victims."

"This senate passed a resolution this session inviting the president to negotiate conventions with foreign nations for the protection of birds—not our birds, not game birds, not migratory birds, not song or insectivorous birds, but birds the avi fauna of the world."

Cured His Drinking.

Jones, a Boston manufacturer, employed Hobbs as a salesman. Hobbs was a hustler who brought business when he worked, but who had a habit of sacrificing two or three days a month getting drunk and sobering up directly after getting his pay. He was always in debt. One day Jones called Hobbs in and said that he would keep him in his employ only on one condition.

"What's that?" asked Hobbs.

"It's this," said Jones. "Every week I shall take $5 of your pay and put it aside. Every month I shall deposit the money in a co-operative bank. You are not to touch that money as long as you remain unmarried and work for me."

"But my debts. How can I spare?"

"Pay 'em somehow, and let me see that bankbook every month."

That was all—no lecture on the evils of drinking, no aphorisms. The other day Hobbs brought the bank book to Jones and showed $800 on deposit. And his only comment was, "And I don't even get thirsty when I look at it."—Exchange.

Heating a Brook.

How to keep a brook running freely and water power working smoothly in a temperature of 50 degrees below zero has now been demonstrated on the Yukon, in Alaska, by some ingenious American engineers. A mining company that used water power to develop electric power, obtaining the water through a ditch many miles long, decided to try to operate through the winter. At the beginning of the winter the engineers let the water in the ditch freeze an ice coat a few inches thick. Then the water in the ditch was dropped a foot, so that the cover of ice made a protection for the stream, with an air space between the ice and the water. This kept out much of the cold, but was useless without some heating of the water. Accordingly wires were strung along the ditch, and at regular intervals electric heating coils were placed in the bottom of the ditch. By this means the water was heated by electricity manufactured by the water at the water wheels.—Saturday Evening Post.

An Enemy's Courtesy.

When the crusaders under King Richard of England defeated the Saracens the sultan, seeing his troops fly, asked what was the number of the Christians who were making all this slaughter. He was told that it was only King Richard and his men and that they were all on foot.

"Then," said the sultan, "God forbid that such a noble fellow as King Richard should march on foot!" and sent him a noble charger.

The messenger took it and said: "Sire, the sultan sends you this charger that you may not be on foot."

The king was as cunning as his enemy and ordered one of his squires to mount the horse in order to try him. The squire obeyed, but the animal proved fiery, and, the squire being unable to hold him in, he set off at full speed to the sultan's pavilion. The sultan expected he had got King Richard and was not a little mortified to discover his mistake.

Flying Boat Will Offer Thrills at Buffalo Perry Centennial Celebration, Sept. 2 to 6.

ONE of the flying boats that will compete against a motorboat during the motorboat races to be held during the Buffalo Perry centennial from Sept. 2 to 6. The machine is the last word in air craft and presents a unique appearance either when speeding through the water or soaring aloft. Balloon flights and parachute exhibitions will occur, and these, as well as hydrosoplane flights, will be among the daily features.

MR. O. C. LARASON OF LICENSE BOARD HAS CLEAR VIEWS

The appointment of Mr. O. C. Larason on the liquor license board for Licking county was somewhat of a surprise because he had not been known as an applicant. In fact he became only a receptive candidate during the last few days of the contest and his name was not the subject of local discussion.

For this reason Mr. Larason's views on the license question and the duties of the office to which he has been entrusted are a matter of special interest.

In an interview with the editor of the Advocate today, Mr. Larason explained that he had voted or the license clause in the new Constitution because he believed it would be an adjustment of the temperance question which has been so extensively agitated the past few years.

In discussing the duties and responsibilities of the license commission, Mr. Larason made the following clear and concise statement, which the Advocate publishes with pleasure:

"I anticipate no difficulty whatever in adjusting the new law in Licking county. When once in operation, I am sure the saloonkeepers themselves will prefer it to the present unsettled and unstable condition of affairs.

"All laws should be enforced. Then the people can tell whether they want them or not. If the law proves to be undesirable, repeal it; if good, retain it. This liquor licensing law will be enforced in our county, and the people will judge from the results that follow rather than from the knocking of a few individuals who are apt to forebode evil.

"I believe that the real friends of any law are the people who will be actuated to enforce it in a manner that will result in its public approval, and the friends of the license law are certainly the most interested persons for its successful enforcement so that it shall be given a fair test."

It is plainly in evidence that the great diplomats of the world's leading civilized nations have discovered that a highly enlightened and masterly statesman is just now President of these United States.

It is recorded in news dispatches that Mr. John Lind, of Minnesota, is on his return from a pleasant trip to Mexico City, where in course of his sojourn he formed the acquaintance of one Mr. Huerta, a Mexican of peculiar prominence.

It is hoped that Prince Albert, ruler of Monte Carlo, won't be demoralized by venturing near Wall street.

Most people who own costly jewelry nowadays are dazzling the interior of the safe deposit box.

The Gossips.

None can hope to hold a candle for persistence to the vandal who goes peddling bits of scandal up and down the village street; when he should be busy hoeing in the garden patch, or mowing, on foul errands he is going, traveling on eager feet. "Have you heard the latest story on J. William Hunkydory?" asks the scandalmonger hoarse, as you try to pass him by. "Have you heard what they are telling of Jim Rooster's sister Ellen?" And the weird and wicked fellow then repeats some evil lie. Maybe when this freak was younger for good tales he had a hunger, but, become a scandal-monger, nothing suits him but the base; never a word of admiration for a soul in all the nation, not one of appreciation ever trickles from his face. Does he ever pause to wonder why in blitzen or in thunder people try to stand from under when his voice he would un-raise, why the people dodge and shun him save the ones who come to dun him—why they show a wish to run him from the village 'twixt two days? This is true, my friends, be jabbers: if you be about your neighbors then the wages for your labors will be deathless scorn and hate; telling stories not demanded, doing actions underhanded, finally will see you lauded where pariahs congregate.

The Human Procession

Owen Johnson, author of "The Eternal Boy" and creator of the admirable "Stover," the American "Tom Brown," is doing it now. That is, he has written a new novel, "The Salamander," in which— to quote from the foreword in the current McClure's— he assumes the risk of criticism "at the hands of those intrenched moralists who admit certain truths as fit subjects for conversation, but aggressively resent the publication of these truths." From whence, without reading further, one gathers that Owen Johnson has fallen a victim to the prevailing lit'ry craze, and is writing about Sex Problems. Still, his fall was not unexpected. The predecessor of "The Salamander" was a novel dealing with modern New York "high society," and from the writing about society to writing about Sex is but a single downward step.

The creator of "Stover" is still a young man, with plenty of time to reform, as he will round out his thirty-fifth year of life today. He was born in New York City—a terrible handicap—and was educated at Lawrenceville, N. J., and Yale. His own experiences at those two institutions of learning formed the basis and gave the inspiration to the "Stover" tales. At Lawrenceville he founded and was the first editor of the Lawrenceville Literary Magazine, and at Yale was chairman of the editorial board of the Literary Magazine. His first book, "Arrows of the Almighty," was published when the author was only twenty-three.

Mr. Johnson and his wife, who is a singer, spent last winter in Florence, Italy, and his latest novel was written in that "soft and sensuous" land. To a friend, the novelist wrote of his success in mastering colloquial Italian:

"You say 'no' by waging a finger, 'yes' by wagging your head, 'too much' by raising your eyebrows, 'how much' by a simple pointing. You say 'good-bye' by showing your teeth, and when you are angry with a cabman you double up your fist and say rapidly in English, '—! You can't cheat me!'—and they understand perfectly."

While Mr. Johnson has departed from the literary field in which he achieved fame, he is still keenly interested in the welfare of American boys. He holds that the spirit of snobbery is gaining ground in American colleges, and that the suppression of snobbery and a return to educational democracy offers the biggest problem that now faces the heads of American institutions of learning. In the tale of Dink Stovers' career at Yale he puts into the mouth of one of the characters:

"Our colleges are all turning into social clearing houses and every one is too absorbed in that engrossing task to know what is going on outside; our universities are admirably organized instruments for the prevention of learning."

Joseph Taylor Robinson, who left the gubernatorial mansion at Little Rock last March to go to Washington as United States senator from Arkansas, was born in Lonoke, Ark., forty-one years ago today. It was only a decade ago that he commenced his public career as a congressman from his native district. He remained in Washington until his election as governor, and was elected to the Senate after the death of Senator Jeff Davis. Senator Robinson is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and a lawyer.

First Things

Cannons were first used, according to the testimony of most historians, in the battle of Crecy, France, 667 years ago today, when Edward III, of England and his son Edward the Black Prince, with about 26,000 troops, defeated Philip of France with an army of 130,000. The French loss was 30,000, while the English loss was small. Two years before the battle Edward III had formed an artillery train and an ordinance establishment. The guns were of the rudest make, cumbersome and inefficient, and most authorities agree that they had little to do with the great English victory at Crecy. It has been alleged that cannon were used by the Moors in the thirteenth century, by Henry III. of England during the rebellion of the Duke of Gloucester in 1267, and by the Spaniards against Cordova in 1292, but it is held by those well qualified to judge that the first unquestionable testimony of the employment of cannons was by Edward III. The Chinese are also supposed to have had cannon before their invention by Europeans.

SKEPTICISM.

There Has Been a General Decay of Manners All Over the World

By Lord ROSEBERY, Former Prime Minister of Great Britain

THE men of the seventeenth century were, I suspect, the gentlest bred ever produced, partly because they POSSESSED GOOD MANNERS themselves and partly because they realized the enormous importance of courtesy and good manners in the common transactions of life.

Now, English speaking people are never famous for good manners.

I THINK THERE HAS BEEN A DECAY OF MANNERS ALL OVER THE WORLD. GOOD APPEARANCE AND GOOD MANNERS HAVE AN ENORMOUS COMMERCIAL VALUE IN LIFE. I SOMETIMES WONDER WHY THEY ARE NOT HARPED ON MORE.

Good appearance, you may say, is not at our command. I don't agree. Good looks are not at our command. They are a gift of the gods, but a good, straightforward, manly appearance, an appearance without self-consciousness—which is the most disagreeable feature perhaps of all in appearance—is WITHIN THE COMMAND OF EVERY BOY.

Manners are even more important than appearance. Say three boys are applying for the same situation. One boy may not have the abilities of either of the other two, but if he has good manners; if, instead of grunting an answer like the first one or giving only an inarticulate sound like the second, he gives a clear, respectful answer to the questions asked him, it is TEN TO ONE AGAINST THE OTHER TWO.

Pussy Was Stealing Fish.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— Why Pussy Ran Away From Home.

EVELYN had asked mother to allow her to accept the little white kitten which a friend offered to give her. "And mother said I couldn't have it, though the kitty would have been lots of company for Tabby now, when she has no kittens of her own," Evelyn complained to daddy. "If you had a white cat, how would you ever keep her nice and clean? Kittens can't wash themselves very well. White cats soon become soiled," said daddy. "Why, we could wash her then," Evelyn answered. "Yes, Sheppie gets into the bathtub and has a bath just as nice as anybody," Jack spoke up. "Well, once I knew a long haired white cat. It had a charming temper and was always polite to every one," daddy went on. "One day there was to be company for tea, and the cat's mistress made a nice salmon salad. "She set it away on a shelf in the pantry and then went out, thinking she had closed the door after her. "Pussy was watching and noticed that the door was left open on a crack. She pushed very gently at the pantry door and soon got it open enough for herself to slip through. Then she jumped up on the shelf where the salmon was and began to eat it. "After a while her mistress came into the dining room and, glancing at the pantry door, saw that it was ajar. She caught Mistress Pussy calmly licking the last of the salmon off the dish. "Then pussy knew that she would be punished, and so she darted along the shelf and jumped down, overturning a jar of maple sirup. "The sirup was spilled all over her fur. The cat ran out of the pantry, down into the coal cellar and hid behind some barrels. "When they got her out no one would have believed she was a white cat. Coal dust and ashes and soot coated her fur. "So they put some water, not too warm and yet not too cold, into the bathtub. Then pussy's mistress drew on a pair of stout gloves, and the cat was lathered with white castle soap. She struggled and scratched and spit, but her mistress held her firmly until she was clean. "Then she was wiped dry and given a saucer full of milk. She was a white but sulky pussy. When the company came some one must have let her get out. At any rate, when her mistress looked for her she was gone. And she never came back."

MUCH INTEREST IN SULZER HEARING

Able Counsel Secured by Both Sides In Fight.

SEN. WAGNER WILL PRESIDE

Court of Impeachment Consists of Members of State Senate and Court of Appeals—Two-thirds Vote Necessary to Remove Sulzer Permanently.

Albany, N. Y.—Not only the state of New York, but the entire Union as well, is eagerly awaiting the beginning of the impeachment trial of William Sulzer, which starts on Sept. 18. The accused will face the high court of impeachment on charges brought by the lower house of the state legislature. The hearing will be staged in the senate chamber of the state capitol at Albany.

This will mark the first time a governor of an American state has faced impeachment proceedings since the year 1870, when Adelbert Ames, then governor of Mississippi, was impeached. Ames resigned before his trial, thus bringing the proceedings to an abrupt termination.

State Senator Robert F. Wagner, president pro tempore of the senate, who became president of the senate when Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn was automatically promoted to the position of acting governor by reason of the charges against Sulzer, will preside at the impeachment trial of the man who was chosen chief execu-

Mrs. Luella Swingle and Mrs. William Wagner of Athens, Ill., are visiting at the home of H. D. Blinn and family, in Worthington road, Alexandria.

C. N. Browne, formerly in the grocery business in North Fourth street, left Monday evening for Omaha, Neb., where he has accepted a position with a railway company.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Alspach and William of 30 Fulton avenue, and Oscar Neal of Thornville, arrived home last night from a nine days' trip in Mr. Alspach's automobile. Among the cities visited were Canton, Finley, Toledo, Detroit, Cedar Point and Sandusky.

Mrs. Ross Smith of North Fifth street received word this morning from her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Shephardson, that she arrived in Boston Harbor, Saturday, and will visit her mother-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Shephardson, Sr., until Tuesday, when she will leave for her home in this city. Mrs. Shephardson will arrive here Wednesday.

SENATOR WAGNER, WHO WILL PRESIDE AT IMPEACHMENT TRIAL, AND STATE CAPTAIN AT ALBANY.

tive of the state of New York. The court that will say whether or not Sulzer will be restored to the position or shall be convicted of the charges will consist of the state senate and members of the court of appeals. In order to impeach a governor it is necessary to have a two-thirds vote of the court. There shall be no appeal from the decision of the high court of impeachment, and this tribunal's decision will be absolutely final.

At the trial the accused governor will appear in person with his counsel and will try to disprove the charges brought against him by the legislature. If the charges be sustained and the governor is permanently removed from office then the acting governor, who in this instance is Mr. Glynn, will continue to act as governor until the next election.

Whether or not Mrs. Sulzer, wife of the accused, will appear in person as a witness at the trial is a question that is attracting wide interest here. It is recalled that just prior to the time a vote was taken in the assembly on the impeachment motion the wife of the governor issued a statement claiming to be responsible for the alleged deals in Wall street stocks and endeavored to shoulder the blame. It is likely that she will take the stand at the trial of her husband and repeat this statement to the court of impeachment.

Five of the most widely known lawyers in the east, former Secretary of State Philander C. Knox, former Judge D. Cady Herick, former State Senator Harvey D. Humpal of Binghamton, N. Y., and former Judge Irving G. Vann of the court of appeals and former State Senator James J. Gay Gordon of Philadelphia—are attorneys for Sulzer. Besides these noted counsel Mr. Sulzer will have among his advisers former Judge Arnold and Louis Marshall.

To match the legal talent retained by Sulzer the board of managers appointed by the assembly has employed as counsel John R. Sweeney, Edgar T. Brackett, William Myers Jerome and Eugene Lamb Richards. In addition to this strong array of talent Acting Governor Glynn is also to be advised by ex-Judge Edwin Countryman and P. C. Dugan.

John Feikner of Toledo is the guest of his mother in Newark.

Prosperity For One Is Prosperity For All

By HOLLAND.

IF you are a farmer the value of your farm depends on the value of the adjoining farm, and the value of both depends on the value of property in the nearest village or town. Farms near prosperous towns are always more valuable than those near dead or dying settlements. And this is true without regard to the fertility of the soil.

The farmer depends on the town just as the town depends for prosperity on the farmer. Their destinies are interlinked; their interests are common. What hurts one hurts the other. Poor crops will affect the city resident who does not even raise radishes, and depressed business affairs affect the farmer who depends on soil, weather and muscle for his living.

Money sent to mail order houses helps to turn thriving towns into dead hamlets. It thereby depreciates the value of farm land. It decreases the population of the towns that most directly use the products of the farm. It lowers the price for butter and eggs, for chickens and for fruits and vegetables.

So, Mr. Farmer, if you deal with a mail order house in a distant city you are taking a course that takes from the value of your farm, that renders it less desirable as a place of residence and less productive of profit. You can't follow a system that injures your neighbors without being compelled to shoulder some of the expense yourself. Take the safer course and SPEND YOUR MONEY WHERE YOU MAKE IT.

Plutus Explains Why So Few Rich Men Qualify for Heaven

THE census shows there aren't as many rich men in heaven as rich women," observed Plutus. "Women are more spiritual," remarked Juno, complacently. "That's not the reason," replied Plutus. "Though I can't say as it makes any difference to me. Being god of the lower world as well as of revenues, I get them either way."

"Since women haven't the vote, here yet, they ought not to have to pay taxes," interrupted Diana hotly. "If I belonged to the millionaires set here, I certainly would refuse to pay tribute to you."

"You'd be clapped into jail then."

"I'd go in for a hunger strike."

"What's the use of stirring up that question?" interposed Juno, soothingly. "You only get all excited and you don't accomplish anything. Why even your arrows are quivering, Di."

"I hate injustice," protested Diana.

"Why are there more rich women than rich men here?" asked Juno, anxious to change the subject.

"Because of dress," replied Plutus.

"Dress!" the crowd chorused. Even Diana forgot to think about suffrage.

"Yes, dress," repeated Plutus.

"I suppose they make a better impression upon Peter," ventured Hebe. "I never thought about that."

"Oh, no, that isn't the reason. Don't you know the test put up to rich people for getting into heaven?"

"Test?" they all asked.

"Yes. They have to pass through a needle's eye, you know."

"Oh, I'd forgotten," murmured Juno. "But nobody actually does it, you know." She looked at her own ample proportions and was glad such a trial was not really required.

"I'm not so sure of that," said Plutus. "I think the test is still insisted upon, and that's the reason so few men qualify."

"But what's that got to do with dress?" inquired Diana.

"Why, don't you see?" replied Plutus, looking at her as if pitying her ignorance in matters of clothes. "A woman can't get into a modern dress, unless she's about like a match-stick. And so all the women are banting. The present style in frocks makes it quite easy to slip through a needle's eye. And so they slide through as if it was a toboggan. But the men, poor things! have no such fashion requirement, and so they pay no attention to their figures. And when they are put up against the feat of crawling through a needle's eye, why, they simply have to pass it up and go below. I try to make up for their disappointment though, by giving them a warm reception."

"You always were a hospitable soul," remarked Juno, anxious to keep on the right side of him, in case the needle's eye test were ever put up to her.

"Well, my figure's all right," said Diana, "and I don't bant. If women would take a little more regular and rational exercises, they wouldn't have to do special stunts to keep down their hips." And picking up her bow and arrows, she started after some big game she'd heard of.

She was a member of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Besides her husband and one daughter Mary, she leaves an uncle C. A. Fink and one brother of Johnstown, Pa. The body will be taken to Johnstown on Wednesday morning, where the funeral will be held and interment made.

MRS. W. P. KIRKPATRICK.
Mrs. W. P. Kirkpatrick of Ulica died Saturday at the Mt. Vernon hospital. Mrs. Kirkpatrick had been suffering from cancer of the liver for some time. The body was prepared for burial at the McCormick undertaking rooms and was taken to Ulica Sunday. The deceased was 67 years of age and is survived by her husband.

FUNERAL OF MISS HILLEARY.
The funeral of Miss Margaret Hilleary will be held Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock at her home in Smith street. Rev. Laughlin will officiate.

MRS. ANNA JOYCE.
Mrs. Anna Joyce, age 60, widow of the late Peter Joyce of Stunbury street died at her home Tuesday morning, after an illness of three weeks. Death resulted from a complication of diseases. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Miss Marie Joyce and a granddaughter, Miss Leah Joyce of Greenfield, Ill.
The funeral services will be held Thursday morning at the St. Francis de Sales church, and burial will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

HANNA J. BAIRD.
Miss Hanna J. Baird, 70, of Palaskala died at Grant hospital, Columbus, of aneuria pectoris. The body was taken to Palaskala for funeral services.

A co-operative egg-selling association, with the school house as the place for gathering eggs, the children to bring them in, and the teacher to supervise sales, is suggested by W. J. Shuford, of Hickory N. C.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Beatrice, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

The Other Case.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached. I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but my husband thought I had better write to you and I did so, stating my symptoms. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Maine.

Where Thousands Will View the Perry Centennial Parades In Buffalo, Sept. 2 to 6.

BE HEALTHY, HAPPY, VIGOROUS

Trembling, Nervous Prostration and That Tired Feeling Vanish After a Treatment of Ambition Pills.

Every run-down, weakened, tired out nervous person in Newark is invited to go to Evans' Drug store this very day and get a 50 cent box of Wendell's Ambition Pills with the distinct understanding that money will be returned if dissatisfied. Over indulgence in alcohol or tobacco, over eating or excesses of any kind mean unstrung nerves. Don't delay, Wendell's Ambition Pills have only recently been offered to the public but thousands have regained vigor, ambition and energy by the use of one box. Get busy and take them for any nervous trouble, weakness, headaches, hysteria, neuralgia, exhausted vitality, sleeplessness, kidney, liver or stomach ailments, and for constipation. They will make anyone feel fine, happy and vigorous in a few days.

Little Benny's Notebook

I rote about dancing in my history book today, this being it.

Dancing is moshins you and sum gerl make with yure feat wile sum-boddy plays the peano in kase you havent got eny orkestra. If you keep in time to the musick it looks bettir, but you dont haff to the way peepil danse nowderays.

The noo kinds of dances is bettir than the old kind for vun thing, which is that evvrybuddy can do them without lerning unless theve got a broakin leg or sumthing. Wen 2 kids jump around in the street they dont think there doing anything sheshil, but if there was ony sun musick to go with it it woud be the terkly trot.

Wen peepil wath cont no how to danse ust to get invited to dances, they woud say, I cant no how to danse, and stay hoam, but nowderays if they say, I dont no how to danse, you jest say to them, Wats that got to do with the terkly trot. And they go to the danse and jump around like evvrybuddy else and think there awl rite. Wich proves you can make any thing popular if its eazy enuff.

Wen peepil first start to danse, wich you can see by the old pictures of them, they ust to take a hold of hands and stand as far away from each uthir as they cood get, as if they didnt no etch uthir verry well, but now wen 2 peepil danse they seam to no etch uthir so well you mite think they was ingaged to be married and didnt kare who noz it. Instead of saving to a gerl, Can I hug you, the way you ust to haff to do, you jest say, Can I danse with you, and she noz wat you mean. This is a moar pullite way of saying it, awn akount of it beeing to publikk. The ony reevin a fello lets anuthir fello danse with his gerl that way is because he is probably dancing with the uthir fellos gerl that way at the saim time.

Pop ses if dansing is still the poatry of moshin, poatry has takin an orfill slump.

UNITE RULING FAMILIES BY MARRIAGE TIE

London, Aug. 26.—Two of the most powerful native ruling families of British India were united Monday when Princess Indiret, only daughter of the reigning Maharajah Gaekwar of Baroda was married to Prince Jitendra, son of the Maharajah of Cochin-Bihar, after a romantic courtship. The bride's father and brother, Shri Maharajah, are both well known in the United States where the latter studied at Harvard. Her mother, the Maharani, is a woman of advanced ideas and is the author of a book on the position of women in India.

Many beekeepers beat tin pans at swarming time because they think it makes the bees settle down, but a contributor to Bee Culture says that this practice is merely a relic of a forgotten English law which required the beekeeper to give notice in this way that his bees were swarming and that he was entitled to follow them. If he lost sight of them after giving this warning, the bees became the property of the person on whose land they alighted.

A SAMARITAN

James Craig is a prosperous merchant of Silverton, Oregon. He has time to think of the health and happiness of those about him.

A young lady school teacher, the daughter of a friend, was succumbing to Bright's Disease. Craig wrote to the late N. W. Spalding, then United States Sub-treasurer of San Francisco, to ask if there was any truth in the report that Bright's Disease was being cured in California. Spalding replied that he had spent $5000 in his life in his own daughter, had recovered, and that too after the drops had done all and the case was supposed to be hopeless, and to tell the father to put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound.

Craig advised the girl's father of the satisfactory nature of the report and the Renal Compound was taken to the patient. She recovered and was teaching at the last address. Craig was so delighted that he told others. He has sent the names of nearly a dozen whom he has helped to new leases of life.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at F. D. Hall, druggist.

Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease or write Jno J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.

FEUDISTS ADD ANOTHER CRIME TO MISDEEDS

Winchester, Ky., Aug. 26.—Another chapter in a Breathitt feud was recorded Sunday when a posse from that county came over to Clay county and shot to death Greenberry McIntosh who was charged with the recent murder of Greenberry Coombs in Breathitt. The Breathitt officers found McIntosh at the home of his brother-in-law at Red Bird Creek. McIntosh defied the posse and was shot down.

Mrs. Ed Callahan, wife of the noted former sheriff of Breathitt, who was killed in a feud war and her brother, Leonard Deaton, are in jail in jail in Breathitt charged with complicity in the killing of Greenberry Coombs.

JACK JOHNSON'S RECEPTION IN LONDON CHILLY

London, Aug. 26.—"Jack" Johnson's music hall engagements in London were "postponed" on account of the intense resentment displayed on all sides. It is understood that the "postponement" will be made permanent later, as the licensing authorities have threatened to make trouble if the engagement of the negro pugilist is not cancelled.

TAN, RED OR FRECKLED SKIN IS EASILY SHED.

To free your summer-soiled skin of its oiliness, muddiness, freckles, blotches or tan, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed, without pain or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless whiteness and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way. I've ever heard of. If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, this is an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of powdered azoic dissolve in a half-pint with hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making you look many years younger. ## The Decline of the King Business

HERE'S not much comfort in the king business nowadays, is there?" observed Caesar, joining the group of royalties gathered about Jove.

"There never was," replied Charles the First, feeling his neck, which was still sore.

"I agree with you," said Louis the Sixteenth, remembering with a shudder the guillotine.

"I think I got off something rather pat," observed Shakespeare, who was standing around taking notes. "When I wrote that now famous line, 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.'"

"You cribbed all the glory," said Bacon, "but I'd like you to prove you did the work. Everybody knows—"

"Gentlemen, we are not interested in that controversy," broke in Jove. "You know I will not have disputes in the throne-room. If you had at once stopped all arguing," he went on, addressing Charles and Louis, "you wouldn't have had to go around up here so long with your necks in bandages. But we have got a little side-tracked from your remark, Caesar. What's the matter with kings now?"

"I was just reading a magazine article, in which the writer describes a recent royal marriage, and tells how a certain royal highness after receiving the King of England at the station, had just five minutes to hustle into a waiting room and change his clothes from an English to a Russian uniform, in order to be properly apparelled to receive the Czar. Now I," went on Caesar, swelling up, "would have been dressed as Caesar. And I shouldn't have changed my clothes for anybody. It is too much like a vaudeville quick-change artist. It's catering to the mob. It's lowering the dignity of the business. A king should have something more important to do than hustling around changing his clothes. And if he hasn't, he ought to put up a bluff that he has. Such conduct is not only unworthy of a king, but it's dangerous. People who think and there are always some around—use just such actions as these to prove the uselessness of kings and the folly of buying so many clothes for them."

"I agree with you," said Napoleon, striking his favorite attitude. "I recognized the value of dress, as you know, and I think nobody could swat any flies on my clothes; but I believe in maintaining individuality. If I had been frisking around changing clothes for every king or emperor I met, I'd had to have taken valets with me instead of soldiers. If the kings of today don't engage in more serious business, or pretend to, I am afraid they will soon be an extinct race. There is very little left of the kingly powers of my day."

"I think I put a few punctures into the king business," observed Washington. "I, and the Minute Men, and few others," he corrected himself, for he was always anxious to give every one all the credit due him. The assembled royalties glared at the great patriot. He was persona non grata in a kingly bunch.

"I did too," joined in Cromwell, with a twinkle in his eyes. "I must be going," said Charles the First, hastily. The sight of Cromwell always gave him a sore throat.

"So must I, and I—" chimed in the others. And in a few minutes the royalties had all faded, leaving Washington and Cromwell regarding each other with amused eyes.

SCALP ITCHED AND BURNED

Scarcely Any Hair on Head. Terrible Itching. Also Bothered With Pimples and Blackheads on Face. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Both Troubles.

Greenwood, Ind. "First my hair began to fall, then my scalp itched and burned when I became warm. I had pimples on my scalp, my hair was falling out gradually until I had scarcely any hair on my head. I couldn't keep the dandruff off at all. My hair was dry and brittle, and I lost rest at night from the terrible itching sensation. I would pull my hair off and scratch my head any place I happened to be.

"For several years I was bothered with pimples on my face. Some of them were hard red spots, some were full of matter, and many blackheads. I was always picking at them and caused them to be sore. They made my face look so badly I was ashamed to be seen.

"I tried washing my head with Cuticura Soap, dried without rinsing, then used the Cuticura Ointment on and rubbed it into the scalp. I applied the Cuticura Soap and Ointment the same each week until cured. Three months' use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment has made my face as smooth and clean as can be." (Signed) C. M. Hamilton, Sept. 24, 1912.

Cuticura Soap (25¢) and Cuticura Ointment (50¢) are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

TEDDY IS BACK FROM THE DESERT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Aug. 26.—Colonel Roosevelt, burned almost as red as the desert Indians among whom he has been sojourning, arrived here yesterday. He spent less than two hours in the city before taking the Pennsylvania special for Oswego, N. Y. He was met at the Santa Fe station by Thomas Knight, president of the Chicago Progressive club, and a delegation of members and later took a "standing" lunch conducted on a help-yourself basis at the club.

On the way to this function in an automobile, the Colonel was recognized by many persons and waving his wide-brimmed Panama hat in response to occasional shouts of greeting. He said that he had enjoyed his vacation and had obtained by his studies of Indian character and customs.

INQUIRY INTO MURDER OF MISSIONARY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Constantinople, Aug. 26.—The United States embassy here has dispatched Lewis Heck, acting vice consul, to open an inquiry into the circumstances attending the murder last week of Dr. Charles H. Holbrook, an American missionary, at Samschur, Asiatic Turkey.

According to the official reports, Dr. Holbrook, who was a native of Lynn, Mass., was sleeping in the garden surrounding the house of Armenian who had been paying attentions to some Turkish women. Two Turks, determined to punish the Armenian, forced their way into the garden and shot the sleeping Dr. Holbrook in mistake for the owner of the house. This version of the affair is discredited by private advices to the British House, which indicate that the murder was a deliberate one. The murderers have been arrested and are awaiting trial.

BREEDERS CO-OPERATING.
Realizing the advantage of getting together for the production of one kind of live stock, twenty-five breeders of Percheron horses of Delaware county have formed a permanent organization for the purpose of promoting the draft horse interests of the county. No sooner started than their organization served a good purpose in the preparation of their exhibit for the Ohio State Fair. They made arrangements for all breeders exhibiting horses to be grouped together and the horses decorated uniformly in order to make a good impression of what is being accomplished in that county in the way of raising high class horses. Found among the members are a number of young men who are much interested in this line of work and they, together with older, experienced breeders in the vicinity to guide them, should later reap the benefits that are sure to come to this kind of co-operation.

GOTHAM HAS 10,800 COPS.

Opening of the Auditorium Season.
In "The Favor," a new play by H. S. Sheldon, to be seen next week at the Auditorium, Monday, September 1 (Labor Day) matinee and night. The role of a husband, who, on the impulse of the moment tosses aside a revolver and adopts the cynical philosophy of the man who wronged him. Paul Gilmore is playing the lead.

In Richard Crane, he turns topsy-turvy the usual triangle situation of the wife, the husband and the lover. Finding that his wife has an indirect amount of interest in a guest in their home, he enters into a pact that she shall obtain a divorce, be married to the interloper, and that he shall retain his residence with the newly wedded pair with the difference that he is to occupy the place of lodger, instead of master of the household.

Use Hairpins for Money in London

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—With an estimated million dollars worth of rare and costly coins on exhibition, the twelfth annual convention of the American Numismatic Association was formally opened here today. Coins representing the medium of exchange from practically every country in the world are to be seen.

Farran Zerbe, past president of the association gave the delegates an address on the money used in Siam. According to Mr. Zerbe, one of the chief reasons why the money in Siam is spherical is to facilitate that easy exchange which is necessary amid the vicissitudes of gambling.

He said games of chance are so popular with some of the Siamese and the medium to barter fives to and from among them with such rapidity that recently when the government minted disc money, a general complaint went up over the whole country.

In the Soudan hairpins are legal tender, he said.

CINCINNATI JURIST RESIGNS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cincinnati, Aug. 26.—Superior Judge Frederick S. Spiegel, Republican mayoralty candidate Monday voluntarily mailed to Governor Cox his resignation from the Superior Court bench, effective September. His term has four months yet to run and there is nothing in the law which requires him to resign in order to be a candidate for mayor. His salary is $500 a month.

"I could not see my way clear to continue to draw salary as a judge, knowing that much of my time would be taken up in promoting my campaign for the mayor's office," said Judge Spiegel.

BODIES IN BOAT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rockland, Me., Aug. 26.—The bodies of Carl W. Perry and Miss Angie Spear, high school students were found in a small boat floating in the Penobscot. Both had been shot to death. Appearances seemed to indicate that Perry did the shooting.

A recent novelty is a combined megaphone and fan.

Unappreciated Explorers

I SEE Cook is going about trying to prove his claim to the North Pole, said Columbus, to Marco Polo. "It's odd that hard times we explorers have, isn't it? First we have to work night and day to get a chance to make a discovery, then we have a tough time doing the discovery act, and then, we have to fight tooth and nail to hang on to our discovery. I wonder why the fellow who wants to hand out a gilt edge, triple-plated proposition to his fellow men always runs up against so many obstacles?"

"I suppose the other folks think it is a reflection on them for sitting around and doing nothing. And so naturally they discredit him. I didn't have much of that trouble myself, though."

"Well, you didn't exactly go in for filing land claims," observed Columbus. "You did the Pullman act, observations-from-a-car-window, you know, and that sort. I'm not decrying it," went on Columbus, as he saw Marco about to object. "You reporters have to follow us, you know, or we couldn't sell building lots. But yours is an easy job compared to ours."

"It's no joke riding around on a camel, in the hot sun."

"That may be. But that's nothing to sailing unknown waters with a seasick crew, or pulling your sled over several hundred miles of ice with no hills to coast down. And then on top of your hardships, to have somebody else billboard the land with his name," concluded Columbus, thinking of Amerigo Vesputti, "or grab the Pole out of your hands, when you are laboriously dragging it home, is tough luck. Discoverers never get their due."

"The world is rather ungrateful, I'll admit," said Polo. "It'll take all you give it and complacently enjoy the gift. But it soon forgets the giver. Not many people in Europe or America ever give much thought today to you, or the hardships of your trip across in a row-boat. You should hear them kick about stuffy state-rooms, and how little deck space there is, and the awful smells on a boat. I wonder what they would think of crossing in your style. But if you hadn't pulled off your little trick, I rather guess Europe would have been somewhat unhealthy and dilapidated by this time; for there wouldn't have been any America for it to overflow into, nor any American herresses to restore its rundown estates."

"It is a pity you didn't get a chance to write my discovery up," said Columbus. "With your reputation, you could have named your own price. Think what corking copy you could have sent back about Columbia."

"Columbia?" exclaimed Polo.

"Columbus," corrected Columbus, haughtily. "You don't expect me to be named, do you?"

"GETS-IT" Is a Wonder for Corns

No Fuss, No Pain, Sure and Quick. Nothing Like It, Stick Them Every Time.

You never used anything like "GETS-IT" for corns before? You're sure at last that every stubborn corn that you've tried so long to get rid of is a corn! You apply "GETS-IT" in 2 seconds, that's all! "GETS-IT" does the rest. There's no more fussing, no more bandages to fit, no more salves to turn the flesh red and raw. No more plasters to get mis-placed and press on the corn. No more "pulling," no more pain, no more picking and gouging, no more lacerations. "GETS-IT" stops pain, shrivels up the corn, and the corn vanishes. "GETS-IT" never fails, is harmless, and healthy. Fresh Warts, callouses and blemishes disappear. "GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25¢ a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by L. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"Nobody knows how good I feel. Corns are gone at last. 'GETS-IT' Did It!"

Last Week of the Great Free Offer

BY THE LEADING SPECIALIST OF NEWARK.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS LEFT.

I want One Hundred Men and Women, from Newark and the territory around it, to accept of my services Free of Charge. I do this to more quickly prove that my system of treatment is the only successful one and to show the superiority of Special Treatment over that of the General Practitioner.

In many cases of Rheumatism, Paralysis, Prostatic trouble, Female Difficulty, I am able in one treatment to relieve and in some cases to cure.

In nervous disorders, Prostrations, Heart and Lung Trouble I am able to show relief at once. Constipation, Liver and Stomach Disorders yield readily to any treatment. If you have anything Chronic, I Want You.

There are no strings to this offer, the only charge being sufficient to cover the actual outlay on the case, and the offer is open from this date until Sept. 1-13.

I have fitted an office in the Newark Trust Building, Suite 506, and can be found there from 9 a. m. to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m., 7 to 8 p. m. every day, and from 9 to 12 a. m. on Sunday. Do not delay, but come at once and bring your friends, as this offer means Dollars to you.

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms?

Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt its mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail 25¢. Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., Philadelphia, Pa., St. Louis, Mo. P. D. Hall, agent, New York, O.

VISITORS formed into line and awaiting their turn to inspect Commodore Perry's flagship, the Niagara, which will arrive in Buffalo on Sept. 2, to be a prominent feature of Perry centennial week, to be celebrated in that city from Sept. 2 to 6 inclusive. At every point along the great lakes visited by the Niagara she has been the object of the greatest curiosity, but it is expected that the throngs to visit her during her stay at the Queen City will exceed those of any other port at which she has touched.

WILL LET MEXICO FIGHT IT OUT

Government Plans to Bring All Americans Back.

IS AGAINST INTERVENTION.

Underwood May Run For Long Senate Term From Alabama—Contest For His Successor—Slaughter of Elk in Northwest—Argument on Sugar Schedule—"King Caucus" Results.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—If every other effort to bring about peace in distracted Mexico fails the United States government will then try and get all the Americans out of that country and let the warring groups and various revolutionary bodies fight it out until they are exhausted.

Probably foreign governments will be told that they should also remove their people if Mexico is to go backward into a state of armed banditti without regard for international obligations. Money will be provided to remove those who are unable to pay their way.

The government of the United States does not propose to intervene in Mexico; does not propose to make war in that country, not as long as the present sentiment exists in favor of keeping out of war. Possibly some overt act on the part of those in control in Mexico may change public sentiment, but as long as there is such a strong sentiment against war the administration will not allow precipitate action.

From Different Viewpoints.

Senator Bacon and Senator Fall are far apart in regard to Mexican matters, but they talk toward the same conclusion. The Georgia senator says he would like to see all Americans taken out of Mexico as speedily as possible. Senator Fall thinks Americans should stay and be protected, but adds: "We are not a people that rush headlong into war. If the people had been better informed in 1898 there would have been no war with Spain."

It May Be Underwood.

Oscar W. Underwood will not be a candidate for the short term in the senate from Alabama, but will probably be in the race for the long term. He wants to finish the work he has now in hand, the completion of the tariff bill and other measures which have come under his supervision, and next year he may be free to be a candidate for the term beginning March 4, 1915.

If Underwood should leave the house there will be a mighty fierce contest for his place in that body, for the chairmanship of the ways and means committee is the most important place in the house under the new scheme. Francis Burton Harrison, who was next in line, is away for the Philippines. Claude Kitchin of North Carolina is the next man, but there are other ambitious men who would like the place.

Killed Elk For Hides.

The senate was discussing the feather amendment and the destruction of birds. Senator Lane of Oregon called attention to the destruction of birds on the Pacific coast because the hunters wanted their plumage. "In the old days we had large herds of elk," he said, "but they were killed for the pitiful sum of $1 each for their hides." There was an impression that many elk were killed for the teeth, which were worn by a secret order, but Lane insisted that the great slaughter was for hides, just as buffalo were killed in large numbers for their hides.

"Changes the Rules."

In a little tariff tilt Senator Penrose criticized the Democrats for changing the methods by which they arranged tariff duties to suit different conditions. "You should not complain," retorted Williams of Mississippi. "I don't know any one who often changes the rules of the game to suit his hand than the senator from Pennsylvania."

One Sided Argument.

"We consumed no time on the sugar schedule," said Chairman Simmons. "We are anxious to make progress with this bill."

"The Democrats did not consume time," retorted Smoot of Utah, "because they could not defend free sugar."

Privately, it is admitted that if it had not been for the president a good revenue duty would have been retained on sugar by the Democrats.

A Sherman Resemblance.

Looking down from the gallery one day an observer of olden days asserted there was quite a resemblance between Senator L. Y. Sherman of Illinois and John Sherman, who was for so many years a senator from Ohio. Besides being long and slim and lean, there is no very great resemblance. Perhaps if John Sherman had shaved his beard he might have looked like the present Sherman.

"King Caucus" Gets Results.

They can criticize "king caucus" all they choose, and the Republicans are doing a lot of it these days, but it must be acknowledged that "king caucus" gets results. Without the caucus system it is doubtful whether the Democrats would have been able to pass a tariff bill. And now, with the aid of the caucus, they will probably pass a currency bill.

Harry K. Thaw, Wealthy Young Man, Who Made Sensational Escape From Insane Asylum

This is Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, who escaped from Matteawan Asylum, New York, Sunday last. The picture was taken recently when he appeared before a court in habeas corpus proceedings in an effort to be released. His escape in a fast automobile, aided it is believed by an ex-assemblyman of the New York Legislature, was one more link in the chain of sensational activities which has marked his case.

Questions and Answers

Who is the chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, and what annual salary does he draw?

The chief justice of the United States supreme court is Edward D. White of Louisiana, who was appointed in 1910. His annual salary is $15,000.

Is a new star added to the American flag as soon as a state is admitted to the Union?

No; not until the Fourth of July following the president's proclamation of admission. This rule was fixed by a law passed in 1818 and has been followed without exception since.

Which is the oldest national flag now in use?

The American, the design of which remains the same as it was adopted June 14, 1777, except for the addition of a star for each state when admitted. The design of the present flag of Great Britain was adopted in 1801, that of France in 1794, that of the German empire in 1871, that of Italy in 1848.

Was the office of poet laureate of England ever declined by any person to whom it was offered?

It was declined in 1737 by Thomas Gray, author of the celebrated elegy, and by Sir Walter Scott in 1813. Wordsworth before accepting the office stipulated that no formal effusions should be considered a necessity.

How many cubic inches are there in a gallon, and what is the weight of a gallon of water?

The standard gallon of the United States contains 231 cubic inches and 8.33 (eight and thirty-three hundredths) pounds of distilled water. The English imperial gallon contains 277 cubic inches and ten pounds of distilled water.

Tell me the estimated number of followers of Islam at the present time?

There are nearly 200,000,000 Moslems. The Turkish government has officially estimated the number at 176,000,000, divided as follows: Turkish domination, 18,000,000; other parts of Asia, 90,000,000; Africa, 30,000,000; other countries and the islands of the eastern seas, 23,000,000. Some estimates are larger. By census of 1901 British India alone contained 64,458,000. Mann in 1900 gave the following figures: Malay archipelago, 31,012,000; China, 32,000,000; Africa, 80,000,000; total, 200,313,845.

What race founded the ruined city of Baalbek?

Syrian sun worshippers.

What day did Lent begin this year?

Wednesday, Feb. 5.

Who wrote "The Soul Here and Hereafter," and is the author still alive?

Charles Marsh Mead. Died February, 1911.

Song Said to Have Won Back Lord Hope's Love.

RECONCILIATION IN SIGHT.

"Honey, Ma Honey," Was Song Which Touched Her Former Husband—Fortune Has Taken Many Peculiar Turns For This Beautiful Woman.

London.—Rumors that Lord Francis Hope may reward his former wife, May Yohe, are current. Lord Hope visited the London Opera House, where Miss Yohe is appearing.

The former Lady Hope was in excellent voice and sang "Honey, Ma Honey," that she often sang to her husband during their life together.

Lord Francis is said to have been touched by the song. Overtures for a reconciliation, it is said, have been made through Lord Francis' brother, the Duke of Newcastle, and the duke's lawyer, Mr. Isitt, husband of Adeline Genec.

Fortune has taken many turns for May Yohe. She was at the height of success when she was married to Lord Francis Hope in 1893. She was the most celebrated actress of three continents, young and beautiful. Her marriage was a turning point. In the twenty years since then she has run the gamut of misfortune.

May Yohe started her career in a church choir near Philadelphia and soon went on the stage. She became a favorite and had many suitors. She chose Lord Francis Hope. Her wedding gift from him was the famous Hope blue diamond, taken from the head of an Indian idol and said to have brought bad luck to every one who ever wore it. May Yohe was no exception to the rule.

MAY YOHE, WHO, IT IS SAID, MAY BE REWED TO LORD FRANCIS HOPE.

After living with Lord Francis seven years she met Major Putnam Bradlee Strong, son of an ex-mayor of New York, and eloped with him in 1899. Lord Hope secured a divorce, and Strong and Miss Yohe were married. After a number of separations and after Strong had been forced to resign from the army they separated permanently in 1905. In April, 1907, she was married to J. Newton Brown. He did not last long.

Miss Yohe went west and in 1908 was reported married to a Canadian lumberman named Murphy. A child, said to have been born from this marriage, was adopted by Edward R. Thompson, a Portland druggist. In 1910 May Yohe bought a cheap boarding house in Seattle, which she ran until she was married some months later to F. M. Reynolds, a San Francisco musician. Some time later she went back to the stage. Her voice was still good, and she obtained engagements in cheap vaudeville houses. Then she went to London.

GIRL SLEEPS 150 HOURS.

Doesn't Feel Any Unusual Effects of Her Long Nap.

St. Louis Miss Christine Fischer, who had slept uninterruptedly for 150 hours following a tennis match, has regained consciousness at the Jewish hospital.

"I was awfully tired. My work as a schoolteacher has been most wearing, and for a month I have felt as though I could sleep a million years," she said. "I went out on the hot tennis court, and when I went to dinner I sat on the edge of the bed to rest myself."

"Suddenly I felt myself going, sink ing, sinking, and I must have fallen asleep then, for I can remember nothing more. I didn't feel anything unusual."

Arizona in 1912 produced 350,000,000 pounds of copper.

MISSING GIRL SPENT NIGHT IN HOTEL HERE

Companion Tells Columbus Police That They Later Went to Toledo Where Ellen Flirted.

Private detectives are at work here, at Buckeye Lake and Columbus in an effort to clear up the mystery of the disappearance of 14-year-old Ellen Kiner, who is thought to have eloped from her home in Linden Heights, Columbus, with 18-year-old Virgil McKinley. The latter is being held by Franklin county juvenile authorities pending search for the missing girl. According to stories told by McKinley, and verified in part by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vonnille, a Columbus couple now held under $1,000 bond each, the youth and the girl accompanied Vonnille and his wife to Newark on August 19, where McKinley and the girl registered at a hotel as husband and wife while Mr. and Mrs. Vonnille went to visit relatives. The parties say they returned to Columbus the following afternoon. McKinley tells that he took the girl to the home of his grandmother in Columbus, but that on her refusal to allow them to spend the night there, they boarded a trolley car for Marion. They found they were unable to get to Marion that night, so they staid in Delaware, McKinley says, leaving the next day for Toledo. After alighting from their train in Toledo, McKinley says, he stepped into a cigar store for a minute, and on returning to the street he found the girl had disappeared. He returned to Columbus that evening, believing, he says, that the Kiner girl had gone away with a man with whom he caught her flirting while on the train. Probate Judge Black of Franklin county received a telephone call from Newark Friday in which, he says, it was intimated that the girl "might be at the bottom of Buckeye Lake." John Kiner, the girl's father, and Detective McGannon of Columbus, returned from Toledo Monday without a clue as to the missing girl's whereabouts. The Buckeye Lake story is being investigated, although the girl's father believes she may be in Delaware or Marion, or possibly in Marion, Ind. Young McKinley denies that he and the girl stopped at Buckeye Lake.

BAND CONCERT AND FESTIVAL WED. EVENING

The thousands who have thronged the public square on the Wednesday evenings when the band concert has been given there, will undoubtedly fill the public park at Sixth and Main streets on Wednesday evening of this week, when the Buckeye Band entertains with a band concert and ice cream social. The enjoyment of a delightful concert program should be sufficient to draw a large crowd and that taken in consideration with the worthiness of the cause, should make the event a success. The proceeds of the social will go to the purchase of new uniforms for the organization, together with other equipment and no personal benefits will be derived from it. A platform has been erected where the band will be seated and cream and cake will be served by about fifty of the young women of the city. The Buckeye Band should be looked upon as a public institution, and should be heartily supported by the citizens.

STUDENT HIKERS REACH NEWARK

Newark has been besieged by hikers during the past few days but the elite of the disciples of Weston seem to have arrived in the persons of T. P. Orchard and C. M. Kron, hailing from Santa Cruz, Calif. The only thing in their appearance to tell of their long hike is a coat of tan which bronzes their faces but they are exceedingly dapper and fastidious as to style. Both are students at the University of California, and the purpose of the hike is to gather material for lectures. They have walked from Santa Cruz to New York City and are on their way back to the Pacific coast. They left California the 29th of June, 1912, being on the road about thirteen months. Messrs. Kron and Orchard arrived in Newark early Tuesday morning from Zanesville and tonight will lecture at the Auditorium theatre. On their travels they carry a camera and the lecture is illustrated by slides, secured personally by them. Eventually the two expect to make their way through the Orient. Enlisted men in the American navy serve as teachers in the Island of Guam.

AUGUST SHUNS ANY INDUSTRY

August Nies, traveling manufacturer of glass hair pins and hat pins and other feminine jewelry was dismissed from the city prison this morning for a few weeks' outing at Buckeye Lake, so says Mr. Nies. Nies was taken to the prison for sleeping in a barn without the permission of the owner. He carries with him a pocket manufacturing outfit with which he makes the hair pins, etc. When he made his first visit at the prison, he was taken to the county jail where he manufactured his jewelry and sold it to the visitors coming away with a nice surplus in the credit side of his jeans. This time, he found that the prisoners were all busy cutting grass and cleaning up around the buildings and he applied for a vacation. This industrious atmosphere about the city prison mystified August and with great alacrity he accepted Mayor Swartz's decree that he should get a long way off real quick. While sleeping in the barn somebody got away with his pocket manufacturing outfit and Nies when brought before the mayor inquired of Chas. Hager, turnkey, "Hat you seen somedings of vat I leaf in de outside ven I come here?" "All you had with you was on the inside," replied Hager, "and hurry back."

ORCHARD HEATING.

That the use of orchard heaters to ward off the killing frosts of spring is a paying operation, especially in orchards of considerable size, is shown by the crop of peaches that was saved this year in the Tibbals orchards of Scioto county. The owners, knowing of the possibilities of having their fruit killed, kept crude oil burners burning throughout the frost season with the result that 4,000 bushels of first grade peaches, now about ready for market, were saved. Other operations are kept up as well as they devote their entire time to planting, pruning and cultivating the tract. The orchard, which covers 85 acres, contains 17,000 trees and although this is but the sixth year for them, there have been three crops of peaches, one-third of the trees being full this year. The orchard is said to be among the best in the state and is a good example of what can be done in the way of horticulture in this climate.

CUPID WORKS AS STUDENTS PERUSE BOOKS

Romance of college days in Valparaiso, Ind., a few years ago, continuing later into widely separated branches of the federal government, by which both were employed, comes to light with the issue, Tuesday, of a marriage license to Dr. Daniel Baughman, assistant surgeon of the United States department of public health, temporarily stationed in Chicago, and Miss May U. Foster, for three years a clerk in the United States treasury department at Washington. The license was issued by the Licking County Probate Court and the wedding is to take place Wednesday in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harvey Disbennet, near Alexandria, this county. Miss Foster is the daughter of A. H. Foster of Alexandria. Acquaintance which subsequently ripened into love, started when Miss Foster and Dr. Baughman were students in Valparaiso University a few years ago. Their correspondence and frequent meetings continued while Miss Foster pursued her duties in Washington and while Dr. Baughman continued his studies. After graduating from Valparaiso University, he took the complete course in medicine and surgery in the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery, graduating also from that institution. Shortly after his graduation Dr. Baughman was chosen resident physician of the Cook county hospital in Chicago. After serving in that position for a year and a half he was appointed to his present position in the government service. Dr. and Mrs. Baughman will leave the latter part of the week for their home in Chicago, but his transfer to another point is expected at an early date. The bride-to-be only recently resigned her position in Washington.

HUSBAND CHARGES WIFE WITH ASSAULT

In a petition filed by Attorneys Smythe & Smythe in Common Pleas court Tuesday, Elmer S. Brownfield seeks divorce from Margaret E. Brownfield on grounds of neglect. The parties live near Summit Station. Brownfield alleges that they were married January 29, 1894. He charges that in August, 1912, his wife assaulted him and drove him from home. British military authorities have developed for use in India a telephone cable which weighs but 17 pounds to the mile, but so well insulated it will work through water. ## American Singers Have Little Chance of Success Abroad

By MILTON ABORN, American Operatic and Dramatic Producer

THE much flouted "artistic atmosphere" of European capitals is spelled G-R-A-F-T. Most of the teachers and agents there are out for the great American dollar, and their love for their art is expressed in MARKS, FLORINS AND FRANCES.

A MEDIOCRE SINGER CAN SECURE A SINGLE PERFORMANCE IN ONE OF THE FOREMOST OPERA HOUSES IF HE CAN AND WILL PAY A THOUSAND DOLLARS OR SO TO AN AGENT WHO HAS SOME UNDERGROUND CONNECTION WITH THE MANAGEMENT. ON THE OTHER HAND, A REALLY GREAT ARTIST HAS A LONG AND ALMOST HOPELESS STRUGGLE UNLESS HE HAS A LOT OF MONEY WITH WHICH TO BUY HIS WAY TO A PROPER HEARING.

There are agents who will give a young singer or musician a concert appearance for a stated sum, furnishing the audience, the claque and the criticisms for various additional payments. On every hand there are teachers promoting ordinary singers whose hopes are kept at a high pitch by predictions of operatic triumphs to come. THE HIGHER THE PUPILS HOPES THE FASTER HE PAYS HIS MONEY TO THE TEACHER.

A prima donna who has signed a contract for two hundred francs a month about TEN DOLLARS A WEEK—to sing leading roles in a small municipal opera house in Germany must supply her own costumes and wigs, and there was a proviso in her contract to the effect that if she did not "make good" in three weeks her contract would become null and void. There are a great many other foolish American singers doing the same thing in Europe.
